words meanings fall from the rhyme in place the scent of something sublime ideas do no harm in a loving mind a symphony of possibility, felt blind two minds touch, distance no matter all minds meet, in platonic orgy clatter topple the contextual walls that surround individual sources of love unbound. two souls among many touching, breaking, times plenty when its right to again play it begins anew in the same old way.
